Dear Friend of the Constitution:

Please return this letter to the address below if you would like to make a donation and/or a pledge to the Institute for Constitutional Studies at George Washington University. Your dollars will be matched, in part, by a “We the People” challenge grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities. Checks should be made payable to “The George Washington University” with a notation on the memo line that the donation is intended for the Institute.

The Institute was founded to ensure that future generations of Americans will understand the substance and historical development of our founding document. With your support (and matching funds from the NEH), we can secure a permanent home for the Institute here in the nation’s capital. I would be more than happy to answer any questions you may have about the Institute, its programs, or its endowment-building campaign.
